BIRDS, BIRDS, BIRDS

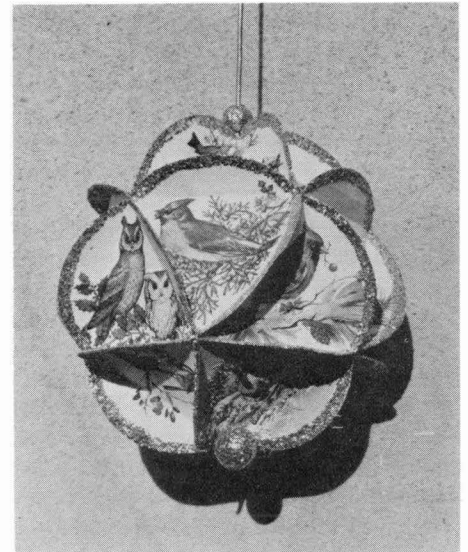

Hope you all saved your Christmas Cards with those gorgeous birds on them.

Now's your chance to put them to good use in the creation of a beautiful twenty sided shape that can be hung as a mobile decoration.

You won't believe how easy it is.

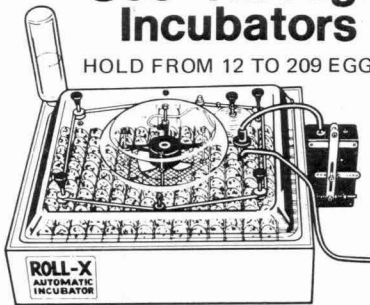

First, select twenty colorful bird pictures that will fit within the specific diameter of a chosen pattern, i.e., a coffee can lid, or whatever. Cut twenty circles, placing the bird(s) in the center of each circle.

Now, cut an equilateral triangle of sufficient size from a piece of cardboard, such that the points of the triangle exactly touch the edge of the circle at all three points of contact when the triangle is perfectly centered within the circle.

Place the triangle on each of the circles, picture facing up. Fold the sides of the circle up over the triangle. After each circle has been properly folded, they may be glued together, flap to flap.

Five pieces should be glued together such that the apex of each triangle comes together. This portion will form the top of the ball shape. This step should be repeated with five more pieces to form the bottom.

Next, glue ten pieces together such that the apex of adjoining triangles alternate direction (up and down) to create the middle or equator of the ball shape.

These three sections now may be glued together to form a ball. You can jazz it up by adding glitter to the edges of the numerous flaps, or you can add a fancy material (cloth) border. Finally, a snappy cord may be attached to the top so the mobile can be hung.

Try this fun project and you will end up with a beautiful decoration for the bird room or your little man's bird room. ■
