REGARDING
LORIES DELIGHT
DRY FORMULA

Four years ago I began researching a high quality dry formula which would meet the nutritional needs of Lories — testing the findings on my own flock of over 100 adult and baby Lories. The results were so positive and exciting that in February 1988, I gave license under contract to the Bird Gallery to manufacture this formula using the name Lories Luncheon.

Recently, problems developed with the licensee, and I have severed any and all connections I had with that company and the formula they are presently selling. I am now marketing my original formula as LORIES DELIGHT. This is the tested, researched, and proven diet that has been used for 4 years with great success in maintaining and breeding healthy Lories.

Remember, you get what you pay for!

DO NOT COMPROMISE THE HEALTH OF YOUR BIRDS!

It is good practice to ask any manufacturer for an analysis of their product. LORIES DELIGHT has a complete scientific analysis of nutrients. A copy is yours for the asking. If you have any questions, please feel free to call.

Painting Fit for a Princess

Internationally known Welsh artist Eric Peake was honored April 11, 1989 by having his original water color painting of a pair of Princess of Wales Australian Parakeets presented by the N.E. Zoological Society to the real Princess Diana, H.R.H. Princess of Wales.

Peake often lends his support to U.S. specialty societies. Last year he painted a pair of Spix's Macaws for the Society of Parrot Breeders and Exhibitors. The Spix's Macaw print was the first of a series depicting severely endangered species. Proceeds from sales of the prints went to help fund avicultural projects (see ad, Watchbird, June/July '89, page 59).

This same concern for the welfare of living species has inspired Peake to help AFA's annual convention raffles and special fund raisers by donating beautiful framed prints.

Peake will be at the AFA Phoenix convention this August. His work will be available there. It is also regularly available through Corporate Environments, this issue, see ad on page 20. ●
